The Central Credit Register Your Credit Report

The Central Credit Register

Collects and stores information about loans of €500 or more including:

- Credit cards
- Overdrafts
- Personal loans
- Mortgages
- Business loans

It is used to generate credit reports that you and your lender can access on request

Your Credit Report Shows details of your existing loans and applications for new loans

Borrowers

You can use it to see what information lenders hold on you

Lenders

Lenders use credit reports to get a picture of a borrower's credit history when deciding on loan applications

The Central Bank

The Central Bank uses the information to get better insights into lending

The Central Credit Register does not score credit reports or decide if a loan is approved or not – your lender makes that decision

How can I get a copy of my credit report?
